Test Reports

Reason for Air Bubble Formations on Laminates

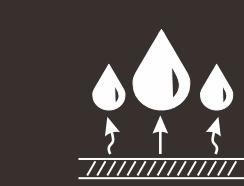

To avoid delamination/air bubbles in between surface laminate and plywood (or any other suitable substrate) the below points need to be taken care of

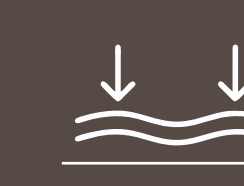

Laminates are bonded in extremely humid conditions

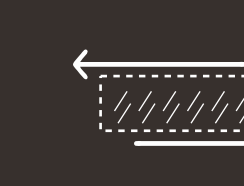

Use of water-base synthetic resin adhesive in place of PEVA (Polyethylene Vinyl Acetate Co-polymer)

When substrate loses moisture after installation

Debonding in certain areas because of uneven substrate surface

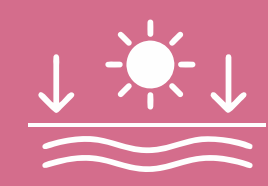

Use of extremely large acrylic/PVC laminate sheets (more than 8ft x 2ft long)

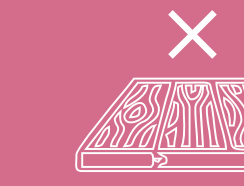

Insufficient or lack of pressing during the bonding period of laminate

Causes of yellow patches & color fading after installation :

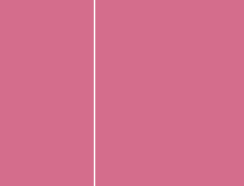

Exposure to direct sunlight can heavily affect a laminate's appearance

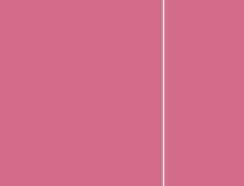

Use of inferior or sub-standard dipped plywood or dipped lipping patti, which may chemically react with the adhesive

The use of synthetic rubber adhesives such as SR/Jat Pat, Bostic, Heatx, etc.

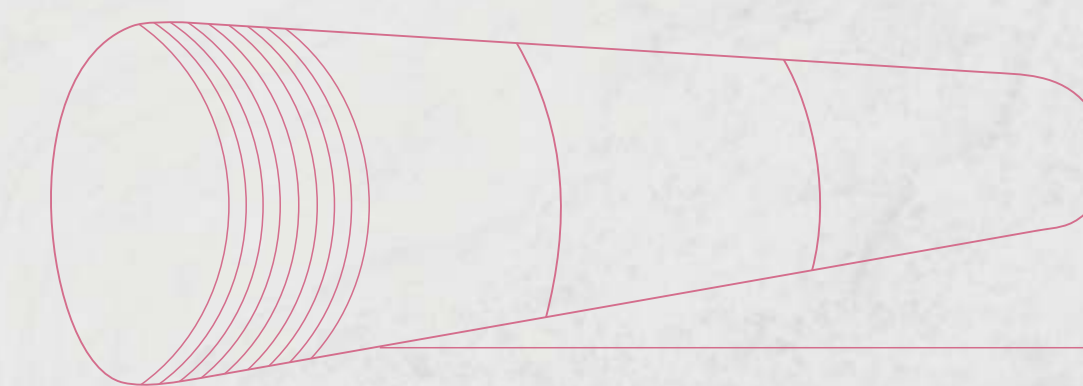

Prolonged exposure to high temperature (above 30°C-35°C)

If hot cookware or utensils are directly placed on the laminate

Causes of Crack Lines or Stretch Lines in Trend Acrylic Laminate Sheets

To avoid the inside cracks & stretch lines, do not store acrylic sheets in roll form.
